

Family and Friends

A special day in Puri Nirwana villa.

One of Bali's leading villa rental specialists, Villa Na Bali Management, held a fun-filled day at Puri Nirwana recently with lots of good food, wine and loads of activities for kids and adults alike. Choosing a unique approach to the 'open home', many of the owner's friends and colleagues, media representatives and business partners were invited to experience first hand the beauty of the location and the villa itself, located right on the beach in the east of Bali within easy reach of Bali's magnificent rural hinterland. Kids were entertained by a magical clown, a bouncy castle, a face painting studio and there were even some animal encounters to be had, while the adults were led through the lush gardens of the magnificent six-bedroom colonial-style villa to the impressive beachfront lawn for free-flow sangria and an impressive BBQ prepared by the estate's private chef. "We wanted to present the unique features of villa Puri Nirwana and show how beautiful this place is when enjoyed with the whole family and friends. We will be happy to arrange such a celebration for our future guests so they can feel the beauty of life, and enjoy every moment," said Mrs. Raty Hamarto, the villa's general manager.

Puri Nirwana was created with careful attention to those with special needs, be it families with kids, those with disabilities, or the elderly. It is one of the only villas on the island that caters to those in wheelchairs, with massive bathrooms, wide open doorways and an elevator between the ground and first floors.

Metis Bali

Glitzy ambience, expansive open-air formal dining and magnifique French Mediterranean haute cuisine in Petitenget has made Métis one of Bali's hottest dining spots for celebs, gastronomes and hopeless romantics. A recent addition is The Bale, a traditional Balinese gazebo linked to the main restaurant-lounge by a pathway surrounded by lily and lotus ponds and rice fields, that is magically aglow come night time. The Bale has a 'Romantic Dinner Package' including a four-course dinner exclusively created by the Executive Chef, a bottle of champagne, private butler service and a suitably ornate table setting, and their service is both impeccable yet flexible, thoughtfully accommodating high-end private events down to the minutest detail: "We always try to keep the glass full for the future groom, making sure however he doesn't get too drunk." Quite!
